On 9 January 1978, Major Frank D. Ralston, III, Class of 1963, was declared KIA after having been listed as MIA since 14 May 1966. He was the pilot of an F-4C aircraft that was reported missing while on an armed reconnaissance mission in North Vietnam. Major Ralston is survived by his mother, Mrs. Helen F. Ralston, 350 S. Clinton, Apt. 10-A, Denver, CO 80231. As a Cadet, Major Ralston served as a Flight Commander in the 9th Cadet Squadron. He was named to the Commandant's List three semesters and was a member of the Ski, Mountaineering, Saddle, and Rodeo Clubs and the Professional Studies Group. Major Ralston also lettered in football. After receiving his pilot's wings at Webb AFB, Major Ralston was subsequently assigned to the 8th Tactical Fighter Wing at George AFB and the 433rd Tactical Fighter Squadron at Ubon AB, Thailand.
