

*Man's Flight
Through Life Is Sustained By The Power Of His Knowledge*

TO HONOR

ANDREW (ANDI) BIANCUR

COLONEL, UNITED STATES AIR FORCE, 1960 TO 1986, USAFA '60
1938 -2021

Colonel Andi Biancur filled a void The Friends didn't even know we had. He always asked the tough question, spoke his mind, volunteered for the hard jobs or the ones no one else had time to do, gave 100 percent support regardless of his view, and provided sound counsel when advice was needed. He was a professional officer in every sense of the word, a fighter pilot at all times (the first graduate to "fire a shot in anger"), a true friend, and as proud a graduate of the Academy as one could find. I count it as one of the voids in my life that I never knew Andi years earlier, but one of the bright spots that I came to know him well in later years. Certainly, The Friends, the Academy, the community, the Air Force and the nation are the richer for his having passed our way.

Fair Winds. Blue Skies, and Happy Landings. My Friend

By: Brig. Gen. (Ret) Philip D. Caine, President Emeritus, The Friends of the Air Force Academy Library
Brig. Gen. (Ret) Erlind G. Royer, President, The Friends of the Air Force Academy Library